

Writing paper research

research paper writing service

The purpose of this work is the description of the driving forces and energy flows forming spatially - temporary dissipative structures of wildlife. The functioning of biological dissipative structures in time from birth to death, their evolutionary development and the mechanisms related to these processes are considered.